Dedicated

Sarah Bobenmyer Schuler.

THE AUTHOR
At 35 Years.

GENEALOGY OF THE LINEAL DESCENDANTS OF JOHN FREDERICK AND CHRISTINA (KLEIN) BOBENMYRER.

History of the antecedents of John Frederick Bobenmyer, who were of Holland decent, prior to the year of 1780. Unattainable. The same having been utterly wiped out with the bloody massacre by the Indians in Berks County, Pennsylvania, late in the fall of that year, in which the Bobenmyer family, together with the entire settlement in which they lived, fell victim, including the father and two brothers of John Frederick. An only sister was taken in captivity, carried off to Canada and never heard from afterwards. The mother alone with John Frederick (six months of age) in arms, taking flight in the darkness of the night concealed in the underbrush escaped the tommyhawk of the savages.

The family had moved from near Norristown with a colony of their countrymen to Maxatawny Township, Berks County, in the spring of the same year that the Massacre took place.
